

Poison Skies Alert!

Look, up in the sky. Have you noticed the lines being sprayed by jets, back and forth, that linger and spread out into 'cloud' cover?

Yes, sprayed. They are not jet contrails. (condensation trails) Contrails are rare, like rainbows. They also occur at high altitudes, in the stratosphere, generally above 25,000 feet. Contrails are a man-caused 'natural' occurrence created by water vapor from jet exhaust. They do not linger, or spread out to create false cloud cover, and they generally dissipate behind the jet. You know. You've seen them you're whole life. Although rarely, like rainbows.

What you see being purposefully sprayed on a seemingly daily basis are what are commonly referred to as "chemtrails". Some choose to call them "persistent contrails", but this is a misnomer. Chemtrails have nothing to do with contrails. Chemtrails are purposeful sub-stratospheric aerosol spray trails that are being sprayed out of nozzles on specially modified jets at lower altitudes, generally below 20,000 feet. They are not rare (these days, especially, and increasingly so), and they not only do not dissipate, they persist and linger, and spread out laterally, creating a false cloud cover.

Chemtrails do not look like real clouds – pretty, fluffy, and natural. They have an unnatural look to them, sometimes look "grainy", sometimes with a chemical-looking rainbow sheen, and form odd-looking wisps, feathers or shapes. As far as can be determined by independent scientific study and research by individuals and grassroots organizations, chemtrails consist mostly of aluminum particulate, which is toxic to humans, animals and plant life. The sprayed mixture may also contain other toxic heavy metals and biological agents, all of which are negatively affecting all of us in many ways.

This toxic soup is now in our air, soil and water. Water tests around California and the United States have found extremely high concentrations of aluminum, well in excess of the EPA Maximum Contamination Level (MCL) of 1,000 parts per billion. These levels should usually be near zero. This air and water (and soil) contamination is not coming from other man-made pollution sources, like smog and industrial pollution, which are minor contributors in comparison. This aerosol spraying is deliberate.

Water sources in Chico and the surrounding areas have several thousand ppb of aluminum contamination (see reverse), and snow packs at Mt. Shasta are registering in excess of 60,000 ppb. These tests are being conducted in certified laboratories with water collected by concerned citizens like you.

Please join us in pursuing this important issue. Chemtrail spraying and geoengineering need to be stopped. Now!

More information is available on our website:

CHICOSKYWATCH.ORG

Poison Skies Alert!

Look, up in the sky. Have you noticed the lines being sprayed by jets, back and forth, that linger and spread out into 'cloud' cover?

Yes, sprayed. They are not jet contrails. (condensation trails) Contrails are rare, like rainbows. They also occur at high altitudes, in the stratosphere, generally above 25,000 feet. Contrails are a man-caused 'natural' occurrence created by water vapor from jet exhaust. They do not linger, or spread out to create false cloud cover, and they generally dissipate behind the jet. You know. You've seen them you're whole life. Although rarely, like rainbows.

What you see being purposefully sprayed on a seemingly daily basis are what are commonly referred to as "chemtrails". Some choose to call them "persistent contrails", but this is a misnomer. Chemtrails have nothing to do with contrails. Chemtrails are purposeful sub-stratospheric aerosol spray trails that are being sprayed out of nozzles on specially modified jets at lower altitudes, generally below 20,000 feet. They are not rare (these days, especially, and increasingly so), and they not only do not dissipate, they persist and linger, and spread out laterally, creating a false cloud cover.

Chemtrails do not look like real clouds – pretty, fluffy, and natural. They have an unnatural look to them, sometimes look "grainy", sometimes with a chemical-looking rainbow sheen, and form odd-looking wisps, feathers or shapes. As far as can be determined by independent scientific study and research by individuals and grassroots organizations, chemtrails consist mostly of aluminum particulate, which is toxic to humans, animals and plant life. The sprayed mixture may also contain other toxic heavy metals and biological agents, all of which are negatively affecting all of us in many ways.

This toxic soup is now in our air, soil and water. Water tests around California and the United States have found extremely high concentrations of aluminum, well in excess of the EPA Maximum Contamination Level (MCL) of 1,000 parts per billion. These levels should usually be near zero. This air and water (and soil) contamination is not coming from other man-made pollution sources, like smog and industrial pollution, which are minor contributors in comparison. This aerosol spraying is deliberate.

Water sources in Chico and the surrounding areas have several thousand ppb of aluminum contamination (see reverse), and snow packs at Mt. Shasta are registering in excess of 60,000 ppb. These tests are being conducted in certified laboratories with water collected by concerned citizens like you.

Please join us in pursuing this important issue. Chemtrail spraying and geoengineering need to be stopped. Now!

More information is available on our website:

CHICOSKYWATCH.ORG

After years of covert spraying, since the mid-1980's, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) are two US government agencies who have both admitted that they are performing sub-stratospheric aerosol spraying, ostensibly for scientific study and research, and to combat global warming. Other reasons for spraying can be weather modification and weather warfare. The Department of Defense has stated publicly that their goal is to "own the weather" by 2025. We need a Congressional investigation to find out the truth.

After years of covert spraying, since the mid-1980's, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) are two US government agencies who have both admitted that they are performing sub-stratospheric aerosol spraying, ostensibly for scientific study and research, and to combat global warming. Other reasons for spraying can be weather modification and weather warfare. The Department of Defense has stated publicly that their goal is to "own the weather" by 2025. We need a Congressional investigation to find out the truth.

We are conducting more water tests around the greater Chico area.

We are conducting more water tests around the greater Chico area.